Victoria Carpet Firm Linked In Multi-Million Dollar Deal

Senate Censure Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)—Public relations counsel for 23 prominent citizens announced Thursday the group is telegraphing Senate members urging them to support a proposed resolution of censure against Sen. Joseph McCarthy.

The telegrams endorsed a censure resolution proposed by Sen. Ralph Flanders (R., Vt.) as a move "to curb the flagrant abuse of power by Senator McCarthy."

Among the announced signers are Paul G. Hoffman, former foreign aid administrator; Lewis W. Douglas, former ambassador to Britain and former budget director; Will Clayton, a former under-secretary of state, and other national-known figures.

Hoffman was a prominent member of the Citizens for Eisenhower committee in 1952. Douglas also supported Eisenhower in the presidential campaign this year. Both men had previously held high positions in the Democratic administration of former president Truman.

Another signer was Howard C. Petersen, a Philadelphia banker who was finance chairman of the Eisenhower-for-president national committee in 1952.

A multi-million-dollar merger of two B.C. home-furnishing firms has linked up with a Victoria carpet industry to result in the formation of the first combination company of its kind in Canada.

The deal merges Restmore Manufacturing Co. Ltd. and A. P. Madsen Ltd. of Vancouver into Restmore-Madsen Ltd., Columbia Carpet Company of Victoria is associated with the new company under a management contract.

Announcing the merger Friday, W. J. Borrie, Vancouver investment dealer, who becomes chairman of the board of Restmore-Madsen Ltd., said: "This results in the first all-Canadian company capable of providing all major furnishings for the home, exclusive of electrical appliances."

Other officers and directors of the new company, all prominent West Coast business men, are Hugh A. Martin, president; R. D. Welch, vice-president; Archibald D. Ballie, managing director; J. N. Turvey, secretary-treasurer; A. Peder Madsen, production manager; E. W. Larson and F. H. B. Charlesworth, all of Vancouver, and J. Denis Hagar of Victoria.

The new company will have a combined annual-sales volume of more than $5,000,000 with products marketed throughout Canada at more than 1,450 retail sales outlets serviced by 20 warehouses in strategic cities.

Council Scraps One-Way Streets As Bickering, Protests Continue

Two-Way Traffic Due in September

One-way traffic on Fort, View and Broughton Streets is being abandoned by the city.

City council voted yesterday to scrap the plan which has been a sore point with merchants on Fort Street, between Government and Douglas, since its inception.

Dissatisfaction was expressed by aldermen over reports of bickering between Sgt. Brooke Douglass, head of the police traffic division, and Robert Doble, city traffic engineer.

But Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, protesting that the division of authority on traffic matters was not helping to solve the city's traffic problems, tried unsuccessfully to get support from a majority of council for a motion to place all traffic matters within the jurisdiction of the police department.

DECISION DELAYED

Council voted, instead, to delay an immediate decision on the issue of traffic control authority and to deal with the question at a later date.

Council decision washing out one-way traffic on the three downtown streets cannot take effect immediately.

City Engineer Cyril Jones said it will be necessary to change bus routes and stops and to have a special meeting of council approve the return to two-way traffic by passing an amendment to the streets traffic by-law.

It may be some time in September before normal traffic returns to the street, he estimated.

Ald. Arthur Dowell, chairman of the public works committee, told council Alderman Edgelow's suggestion placing all traffic matters under police control would eventually result in all downtown city streets being one-way streets.

He was referring to Sgt. Douglass' plan, now under study by the town planning commission, to make all streets one-way in the area bounded by Wharf, Belleville, Hillside and Quadra Streets.

APPROVAL NEEDED

The mayor reminded him that changes would have to be approved by council, regardless of who had authority to suggest changes.

City Engineer Jones angrily denied suggestions that his department had misled council and the works committee into believing that the one-way plan could be tried out on an experimental basis at little or no cost.

Aldermen were concerned over suggestions that it might cost $2,000 to return to two-way traffic on Fort, View and Broughton.

For Southeast Asia

Britain, U.S. Plan Anti-Red Alliance

WASHINGTON (AP)—Britain and the United States have agreed to join in calling an international conference of about 10 nations by September 1 to create an anti-Communist Southeast Asian alliance. Consultations with friendly nations which may participate are already being held.

The aim of the conference will be to conclude a defensive treaty that would post "no trespassing" warnings for the Communists along the borders of South Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia in Indo-China, and of Thailand and Burma.

The British agreement to hold a meeting by September apparently represents a concession on timing by Foreign Secretary Eden. Earlier information had been that Eden believed many months would be required to work out the proposed pact.

State Secretary Dulles had sought creation of the alliance as a matter of urgency. He believes immediate creation of anti-Communist strength in Southeast Asia is necessary in view of Communist gains through the Indo-China peace settlement reached at Geneva Wednesday.

DATE NOT SET

The exact date and place of the conference remain to be determined in talks with the other governments which may attend. Consultations with the French regime of Premier Mendes-France, heretofore preoccupied with the Indo-China peace negotiations, are expected to begin at once.

Atom Power Draws Near In Canada

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Wide spread use of atomic power in Canadian industry is much closer than the public realizes, A. E. Grauer, president of the B.C. Electric Co., said yesterday.

"In about a decade Canadians may be using 1,000,000 electrical horsepower generated from atomic energy," Grauer predicted after a visit to the national nuclear project at Chalk River, Ont.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Ed Fisher, a Miami diver, dropped into the sea off Key Largo Thursday and went down 30 feet to the floor of a coral canyon in an effort to become the first man to go on an over-night camping trip under water.

His purpose is to test a new diving unit. A team of assistants will take fresh tanks of air to him every hour. The unit has no hose leading to the surface.

Stores Elated At News

Fort Street business men were overjoyed last night when they heard their street will be a two-way affair soon—but there was one major objection.

Miss E. B. Elworthy, manager of Peggy Page Candies, 615 Fort, said the change must come "right now, or I'll be out of business."

The merchants presented a petition to city council some time ago, demanding an end to the present one-way flow—down from Douglas to Government. They wanted the flow reversed or the one-way plan dropped entirely.

MONEY LOST

Most said last night they have lost money because of one-way streets, since tourists cannot go up Fort from Government.

Miss Elworthy disclosed her store has lost $5,000 since the beginning of the year.

When told the change might not come until September, she said, "That's terrible... I won't be able to hang on with this terrible overhead."

Miss Elworthy offered to buy a sledghammer and knock down the one-way signs herself for nothing if the change was made now.

PRESS FIGHT

Roger Monteith, owner of Monteith's fishing supply store at 618 Fort, who led the petition campaign, said his group will press the fight for the "earliest possible return to sanity."

J. R. Darling of Darling's Pharmacy, 624 Fort, stated there had only been minor traffic problems on the street and the one-way plan didn't solve them.

He added, "It was ridiculous to satisfy a whim of somebody who doesn't know a thing about traffic control and let him fool around with other people's businesses."

Chief of Police John Blackstock declared the Fort Street one-way plan would never work because the one-way section has main arterial highways at both ends.

He felt the section should be extended from Wharf Street to Vancouver Street "or maybe further" if the plan was to work.

Believed Kidnapped

BERLIN (Reuters)—West Germany's intelligence chief, Otto John, disappeared behind the Iron Curtain Tuesday, the government announced Thursday.

A security official in Bonn said the six-foot Communist hunter had been drugged and abducted into Communist East Berlin. But West German police insisted he bolted of his own free will in a state of "depression."

A government spokesman in Bonn said Thursday night it still was not yet clear whether John was kidnapped or had voluntarily crossed into the Communist sector of Berlin.

He was last seen at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the company of "an old friend," Dr. Wolfgang Wohlgemut—a surgeon described as an ardent Communist—the statement said.

John's secretary said that Tuesday night John got a phone call from a doctor he knew well, who called on him to meet a "desperate" need for help. Intelligence sources in Bonn said.

DRAFTED REPORT

John helped draft a government statement on Communist kidnapping plots in the Western sector shortly before he disappeared. West German government officials at Bonn said Thursday night.

His Spanish-born wife insists he went to East Berlin because of a "mental depression." West German police said. This was flatly contradicted by the West German interior ministry in a statement which said "all the signs so far indicate he has been the victim of abduction into the Soviet zone of Germany."

Island Road Maintenance

THE $3,200,000 road program announced by Hon. P. A. Gagliardi this week for six provincial electoral districts on Vancouver Island is a comprehensive schedule, mostly on the maintenance side. Apart from new construction on the Island Highway at its Victoria end and elsewhere, much of the public work planned for this year will be in the category of repairs to and improvement of existing thoroughfares. This is needed and no doubt will do good in the regions concerned, but it is not yet a determination of the larger issue of integrated highway development on Vancouver Island.

Completion of the Victoria entrance to the Island Highway, the second stage of which is being progressively undertaken now, is a step in that direction, as it promises to relieve a good deal of the disability of the present arterial system. So, too, will be the extension of the same route at its northern end and the several links which are planned to tie-in with the main trunk roads. Also with regard to allocation of public works funds on Vancouver Island the provincial administration is dealing fairly with Island communities. The high percentage of the work which is strictly of a maintenance character, however, serves to point to the necessity for a development program as well as a maintenance one. The province has recognized this in part by provision for some new construction in the plan.

As time goes on and the northern half of Vancouver Island begins to require the same degree of attention that has been paid to the southern portion it will be found necessary to formulate a definite scheme for the integration of the Island roads system. The possibilities of choice, one route with another, are not lacking, while the eventual need for the opening up of the whole territory will be the more emphasized as the influx of settlement continues. It can be said literally that every dollar that British Columbia can afford to spend on Vancouver Island roads in the next few years can be made a two-purpose outlay for the renovation of the existing highway system and its development into a permanent and fully co-ordinated plan for the future.

What is encouraging about the present provincial move is that Vancouver Island obviously is being considered as an integral and operative part of British Columbia, and not merely as a poor relation to be fed from the scraps and end-pieces of the province's road bounty. One knows of no area within the limits of Canada that will better repay the effort to make it a little more accessible.

A Pleasing Prospect

NEWS that HMCS Magnificent will make port at the Esquimalt base in November will cause a ripple of unusual interest throughout this sea-girt city. Not since the early post-war visit of the "Maggie's" predecessor, HMCS Warrior, have Victorians had an opportunity to see an aircraft carrier, and the Magnificent will thus steam into the midst of eager expectation. Everyone will be anxious to go aboard and explore the fascination of the RCN's only capital ship.

Only NATO commitments of recent years have prevented a visit of the "Maggie" to the Pacific Coast before this. Just as it is traditional for warships to "show the flag" periodically in foreign ports so also is it desirable they should show themselves to the people whom they serve. The liaison between Canadians and their navy must be kept close if the RCN is to function happily and well, as naval officials realize. It has long been the hope that the Magnificent could be released from seagoing duty in order to come west for the first time, and now this is due to become fact. The delay should merely whet the attention of sailors and civilians alike in this area.

In two years time the new carrier Bonaventure, now being built at Belfast for the RCN, will take over as this country's representative warship of this class. Meantime the Magnificent has built up a fine reputation for performance during the many post-war allied manoeuvres and carried Canadian naval colors to new marks of efficiency. She is ably handled and well manned. Her visit here will therefore be an occasion out of the ordinary, and it is pleasing to note that demonstrations of flying by the aircraft aboard—after all the prime reason for the existence of a carrier—will take place in local skies. Altogether HMCS Magnificent is assured of a very warm welcome when she enters Esquimalt Harbor.

Worse Than Useless

SURVEYS of public opinion on current topics of general interest may occasionally be of some practical value, but it would be hard to find a good word to say for the latest sampling taken by the Gallup Poll people. This inquisitive organization must have been hard pressed for a subject to ask questions about when it essayed to catalogue public opinion on the relationship between lung cancer and cigarette smoking. From this probing the Gallup Poll has compiled certain statistics which prove precisely nothing except that a large proportion of those questioned had the good sense not to adventure an opinion on a subject which they as laymen were not qualified to discuss.

The question was: "Do you think cigarette smoking is one of the causes of lung cancer or not?" For all the good this sort of interrogation could do, the question might just as well have been, "Do you think moonlight causes madness?" As the cancer forum recently conducted in Victoria by the Colonist demonstrated, scientific research into the possibility of relationship between cigarette smoking and lung cancer is far from complete and the majority of medical men are unwilling to make a definite statement one way or the other. Since laymen have neither the facilities nor the training to test the connection, if there is one, what is the use of asking them at this stage what they think about it?

If the Gallup Poll organizers wish to waste their time in this sort of fooling, that is their affair. Unfortunately in this instance their inquisitiveness has the capacity to cause harm. Because of the wide publicity given to it recently, the subject of lung cancer has caused much anxiety, far more in most cases than there is any real occasion for. It was unnecessary and in fact cruel to add to that anxiety by publicly announcing the inconclusive answers to a question which was both premature and outside the scope of knowledge of those interrogated.

Interpreting the News

Communists Change Tactics

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

NOW that the Geneva Conference has given the Communists half of Viet Nam, the puzzling question remains: Why were the Communists willing to make the agreement and end the war?

They had the French on the run in Indo-China when the Geneva conference began last April and were continuing to push them up to the line the armistice was signed.

They may feel confident they can win control of all Viet Nam in elections to be held in 1956. That would be the first time the Communists had won new territory through free elections.

This armistice would seem to signal a shift in Communist tactics, at least temporarily. Instead of trying to subvert and at the same time split the Allies by shooting, as in Korea and Indo-China, they may feel they can accomplish both ends better in a period of peace, or at least give it a try.

As long as shooting continued they were in danger. If, instead of settling for half of Viet Nam, they had tried to take it all from the French by force, the United States and Britain eventually might have intervened. The result might have been world war.

Just forcing the French to give them half of Viet Nam was a Communist victory over the West, which had been too divided to agree on a plan for stopping them militarily.

This was twice within a year that Communism had pushed the West into a position where it was glad to settle for an armistice instead of fighting on to a victory, in Korea in 1953 and now in Indo-China.

It was a lesson which could hardly be lost on the millions of Asians, who for centuries had been forced to regard the West as invincible when dealing with Asiatics.

This realization and the memory of what happened in Korea and Indo-China may have a weakening effect on Southeast Asians if they have to make a decision on allying themselves with the West against Communism.

Since French Premier Mendes-France had promised to resign this week unless he obtained an armistice, it might seem that Russian Foreign Minister Molotov would have wanted to prevent an armistice.

For resignation by Mendes-France would have forced the French to choose a new government, perhaps weaker than the present one and more of a pushover for Communist pressure.

On the surface that might appear logical. But Molotov had to take into consideration that Mendes-France's failure, and resultant French exasperation and frustration, might have produced a strong military leader and bitterness against the Russians.

It was a gamble and Molotov apparently chose to take it. What Russia wants is to prevent creation of the European Defense Community—the single European army.

The French have stalled on this plan which would put them in a single army with the West Germans. Russia has been anxious to prevent both EDC and German rearming. Now, faced with the prospect of peace everywhere in the world for an indefinite period, the French may be more reluctant than ever to join EDC.

Thinking Aloud

... of shoes—and ships—and sailing wax—of cabbages and kings

By TOM TAYLOR

WELL, the guns have stopped firing, for the first time we read since the unlamented Mussolini invaded Ethiopia. Twenty whole years of war.

A dreadful thought, this, really. A whole generation has grown up not knowing peace. That's over-simplified, for happily in growing up a child doesn't take note of what's going on at the other end of the world.

What a blessing that is.

I have read often that peace is just an interval between wars and in my lifetime how true that has been. Recollect too that literally millions of men all over the globe are war veterans.

Just as though men were fated to fight.

Sometimes I think they are, on and off the battlefield. For all his vaunted skills, the one thing man cannot do successfully is live at peace—vide both Vernon and Hanol.

But now the guns have stopped, temporarily at least. That must be a gain of some kind, I suppose.

The nagging doubt is that they'll start again sometime, and maybe in the place where they've just ceased to fire. Will Ho Cho Minh be content with his victory?

Oh it's a win for him all right; which I suppose is why the Indo-China settlement is cited as another Munich.

Munich is a term of disrepute. It would be a red-letter mark in history had Hitler kept his word, but critics being better at hindsight than foresight a certain man with an umbrella is now spoken off with distaste.

I would like myself to think that Ho Cho Minh is more dependable than Hitler proved to be, but I have my doubts and serious ones at that.

Yet, what should the West have done? Made a global war out of Indo-China? Unless one faces this cold question one merely shrinks the facts.

France was done in; obviously. Equally obviously the Vietminh forces couldn't be overthrown unless the West entered the battle whole-hog. That meant bringing in China, and possibly Russia. And that involved the grave risk of atomic war.

Is that what the West should have chosen?

There are a lot of other nuances to the situation, but basically that's it in a nutshell. All the fancy talk in the world doesn't hide the blunt truth that the Communists had the edge, and the West had to make the best of a bad bargain.

Funny how the term "peaceful co-existence" is now being smeared.

A few years ago this idea would have been hailed, indeed that's actually the course that was pursued by the West just after the war—an effort to reach some kind of permanent truce with the Communist half of the world.

Until Korea came along. Yet if the West is not prepared to shoot it out hot-blooded with the Soviet system—and he must be a queer man who wouldn't hesitate to press the trigger—what is left but some attempt at co-existence, even if the daggers are held sheathed but ready.

A rueful pill to swallow perhaps, but there it is.

I would like to think that even this unpleasant medicine was the herald of a continuing cease fire, but half-a-century of only spasmodic interruption of gunfire makes me sceptical.

Especially when I read that there's not a single country in the world without a Communist movement, legal or illegal. If these people would leave other people alone all might be well, but because they don't the risk of war will always be there.

"I suppose you realize that now they can get steaks like foreigners, British sportsmen have no excuse for not winning everything."

International Commentary...

Deadlock on Disarmament

By W. N. EWER, from London

out any system of international control, which the Soviet government itself has, since discussion began, admitted to be impracticable.

It is then difficult to regard this proposal as a serious attempt to reach agreement. It seems rather designed to provide opportunity for propaganda which will represent the "Western powers" as opposing and rejecting a Soviet appeal for the abolition of atomic warfare.

This might not be so if there were any sign that the Soviet government is now ready to accept any effective system of international control. But of that there is no sign. It is true that, in words, it not only accepts but insists on the need for "strict international control." But at the same time its detailed plan, produced on June 14, makes it clear that it still regards "control" as being restricted to "inspection" and that it is to be "without the right to interfere in the domestic affairs of states."

That is a provision which could make any such machinery completely ineffectual.

So with regard to atomic weapons and atomic warfare, the Russian position remains rigid and unchanged. It has not altered in any essential from the attitude which brought complete deadlock in 1948 when the first Atomic Commission suspended work because it could see no hope of progress.

It is the same with regard to "conventional" weapons and to the strength of armed forces. Here, too, the Russians have been standing rigidly and unyieldingly by a demand put forward years ago, and which they know to be impossible of acceptance. It is that in the first step towards a reduction of armaments, a "basic provision" of any plan must be that every country, and especially the great powers, shall "reduce all armaments and all land, naval and air forces by one-third."

Now that is a proposal which has never found any support except from the satellite states of the Soviet Union—and that for two reasons. First, since the military, naval and air strength of the Soviet Union is a closely guarded secret, it is quite impossible to assess what the effect of "blind" acceptance of such an undertaking would be. But it would certainly leave the Soviet bloc with a great preponderance of conventional armaments and forces, and the effect of this would be greatly increased if the proposal were adopted without a simultaneous solution of the problem of atomic control. The Russians do in fact wish to keep the two sides of disarmament separate. In the second place, the practical difficulties of applying the one-third rule to all types of arms, ships and aircraft would be immense.

But these are all old arguments. The depressing feature of the sub-committee meeting has been that the Soviet delegation simply repeated proposals which have been thoroughly examined, discussed and rejected in the past and this although Britain, France, Canada and the United States all made it clear that they were by no means standing rigidly on proposals which they had made on earlier occasions, but were quite prepared to modify them or abandon them to search for other bases of agreement.

Twice before, in 1948 and in 1952, this completely uncompromising attitude on the part of the Soviet government has brought about deadlocks which have been so complete that there has been nothing for it but to suspend the work of the Disarmament Commission. It looks ominously as if that unfortunate history is going to repeat itself in 1954, although it is clear that Britain and the other leading powers of the free world will not be deterred from continued efforts to reach a satisfactory agreement.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

If atoms are such busy little things, if they consist of parts that hop and skip and vibrate with such furious intensity, surely they make some noise.

If that chair there, across the room, consists of matter, and matter consists of billions of atoms, all furiously exerting their energy, why do we not hear at least some buzzing? Outside my cottage window is a massive rock hill. It and everything on it, every wisp of lichen, every blueberry bush, every fragile plant, to its leathery tip, consists of atoms, according to the scientists. And these atoms are not dead and still. They are all jumping like a fiddler's elbow; they are fantastically busy, emanating, discharging, shooting, whirling. But the big rock hill utters never a sound.

Well, it may be that atoms do make a sound. Maybe the whole world around us is fairly screaming with sound, or roaring with an eternal thunder so profound we cannot hear it.

We know for sure that the human ear has strict limitations. There are sounds so high that they cannot register on our ear drums. For example, sportsmen use a silent dog whistle which emits a note so thin and high it cannot be heard by man, but a dog a quarter mile away will instantly respond to the whistle.

There are other sounds so deep that we feel them as a vibration on our skins rather than as sounds in our ears.

It may therefore be a fact that atoms do make a sound, and that the world of matter, which is energy, all around us is a tumult unheard by us. The atomic scientists may soon learn something of intense interest to those of us who marvel and wonder at the gift animals have of finding what they seek, or how birds three months old and born in the arctic can follow the ancient path of their migration to Brazil. Fabre, the great French scholar of insects, took a female moth from France to North Africa, where the particular moth is unknown. He put it in a cage in a window, the next day several males of the species had crossed over to Africa. Fabre suspected that the antennae of moths serve to catch vibrations of some kind. They might be the vibration of atoms.

Maybe we can hear that chair over there across the room. Certainly it seems to be inviting us.

Basis of Education

(From The Hamilton Spectator)

IN Canada—just as much as in the United States, there is a tendency these days to think of education as a commodity—something to be made as palatable as possible and prepackaged in carefully weighed, rationed which it is the obligation of a vague but benevolent government to hand out to each child in the same way that it is obligated to hand out a packet of an equally loosely understood "welfare" to each adult.

If the child does not thrive on this diet, then the fault must be in the product or in the distribution system, and nowhere else.

Impaired Driving
Costs City Woman
Penalty of $250

Alice Lavender of Kingston Street was fined $250, or 12 days, by Magistrate H. C. Hall in police court yesterday after she pleaded guilty to an impaired driving charge.

The magistrate stated he would recommend suspension of her license.

Police said she was arrested about 8:15 a.m. Wednesday after she collided with a parked car. The accused was located a few minutes later on Oswego Street where her car had mounted the curb.

She staggered and had to be assisted when she got out the vehicle, police said.

She is the first woman to be dealt with this year in city court on an impaired driving charge.

Earl Beresford, 403 Heather, was remanded until July 26 on a charge of uttering a forged promissory note worth $512. The offense is alleged to have occurred June 17.

Defense counsel T. P. O'Grady asked for the adjournment with out election or plea.

Twenty-four hours after he had pleaded not guilty, William Luesley, 1735 Davie, changed his mind and admitted that he had threatened his mother-in-law.

The court was told that on June 26 in the mother-in-law's house, accused picked up a knife and told her: "Look at this knife. I will kill you with that."

Police said that Luesley had been drinking.

"I am a chronic alcoholic," accused stated. "I had been drinking from New Year's Day until about a week ago."

Magistrate Hall ordered the accused to sign a $500 bond to be of good behavior for six months.

A man who said he was driven to deserting his wife and two children, was remanded until this morning for sentence. Douglas Herbert Going told the magistrate that when he was out of work and went to the welfare authorities for help, they told him the only way they could help was "if I disappeared out of the picture."

Going said he had traveled as far as Winnipeg since March 8 looking for work but could not find any. He added that he knew he would be charged on his return to Victoria but stated, "You can't stay away from your family for ever."

Crown Prosecutor Alan Bigelow said the accused had a previous record. He was convicted in London, England, in 1944 for robbery, in Halifax in 1948 for Young couples who drive down lovers' lane in Uplands Park to swoon at the moon over Cattle Point will be going strictly in one direction from now on.

Oak Bay council Wednesday night approved a police commission recommendation that the narrow road be made a one-way street. Cars proceeding north along Beacon Drive will turn off onto the road and come out at the war memorial end.

"Nightgowns" for FIRE-FIGHTERS

WIDE-AWAKE fire departments may soon be turned out in a new heat-resisting suit built on the general lines of the old-fashioned nightgown. Made of reflective aluminum foil, this outfit gives the hook-and-ladder lads a lot more protection from extreme heat.

Canadian farmers have the same idea when they build their barns of aluminum sheet. Not only is aluminum fire-resistant but it also keeps barns cooler in summer because it reflects the heat of the sun; and in winter reflects back into the barn heat that would otherwise escape. In fact you might say that in the products of Canada's aluminum industry are reflected countless aids to better living—on the farm, in the city, in your own home. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. # Wife of Farmer Shot to Death, Husband Held

A Cowichan Lake Road farmer was charged by RCMP with manslaughter yesterday when she was reportedly mistaken for a deer.

Henry G. Robinson, 61, was remanded until Thursday when he appeared before Magistrate W. H. Bryant in Duncan police court yesterday afternoon. No bail was set.

Mrs. Irene Robinson, 56, was killed instantly by a bullet from a 30-30 rifle at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday on the family farm, one of the pioneer farms in the Cowichan Lake area.

It is located in the Sahtlam district, three miles along Cowichan Lake Road from the Old Island Highway.

NO INQUEST
Coroner A. E. Green announced no inquest will be held at the request of Attorney General Robert Bonner. Police said Robinson reported the incident.

A deer had previously been sighted in the strawberry patch, separated from the Robinson home by a small field of grain.

Mrs. Robinson was said to have been wearing a brown coat, and police indicated Robinson sighted a brown object and went to the barn, where he fired one shot.

FORMER TEACHER
Mrs. Robinson, formerly Irene McDonald of Victoria, was well known as a school teacher in the Sahtlam district, while her husband was once prominent as a competitor in loggers' sports.

The couple's income was said to be based mainly on revenue from the sale of strawberries taken from the patch where the woman met death.

New Deal Pledged For Gulf Islands

Residents of the Gulf Islands may soon be getting a new deal from the provincial government, following a visit by Premier W. A. C. Bennett Wednesday.

The premier told the Colonist yesterday that he plans to devote more time to a study of the problems of Gulf Islanders, including the lack of adequate ferry service and the lagging agricultural economy.

"We recognize that the islands should be receiving better treatment than they have received in the past few years," he said.

Premier Bennett visited Salt Spring Island informally Wednesday and made a special tour of other island points the previous week.

"These islands are one of the most beautiful parts of Canada," he said. "This government will take an interest in the welfare of their people."

He confirmed an earlier Colonist report that the government is now studying a proposal by the Black Ball Ferry Line to take over Gavin Mousal's Fulford-Swartz Bay ferry line and establish a complete service throughout the islands.

Farmer Shoots Self Buyers Arrive Just Too Late

DUNCAN—A Westholme man, despondent over failure to sell his farm, shot himself just as a real estate agent was bringing two prospective buyers to the farm, a coroner's jury learned yesterday.

The jury decided that death was due to two self-inflicted gunshot wounds in the chest and head. In the case of Reginald Elliott, 48, of Westholme.

The body was found by the real estate agent, James Flynn, a near neighbor, told the jury Elliott had been despondent for some time because work on his poultry farm was too heavy for one man, and he could not find a buyer. He had also complained of pains in the chest.

Described by police as a "most meticulous" man, Elliott left notes of instruction in each feed bucket in two large chicken houses and in the calf barn.

An unsigned note found on the kitchen table said, "I cannot sleep."

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Monday from Hirst Funeral Home, Duncan, with Rev. Brian Page officiating. Cremation will follow.

Surviving are an uncle, Malcolm Elliott, Duncan, and his mother, Mrs. L. Elliott, Duncan.

Charge of Timber Theft

William H. M. Haldane, QC, defense counsel, tangled with Col. William A. Townley during cross-examination at a preliminary hearing in a provincial police court here yesterday.

"This man is trying to establish the guilt of the accused and that is none of his business," said the lawyer of the colonel, who is resident engineer at the Rocky Point naval arsenal construction project.

Appearing at the hearing charged with the theft of more than 15,000 board feet of timber from the project is Philip L. Brun, at one time a foreman with Bennett & White Construction Co. Ltd., one of the firms building the arsenal.

It is alleged the thefts were carried out in June and he is partly responsible for the claim a derrick at the project was used to load the timber onto a truck, and that it was sold in Victoria.

CONSTABLE ACTS
The charge was laid after investigation by Cpl. D. G. Rogers of Victoria and Const. P. Humphries of Sooke detachment, who yesterday represented the prosecution.

Le Brun was arrested July 15, and later released on $2,000 bail.

Mr. Haldane publicly protested shortly after Le Brun's arrest that he was denied a private interview with the accused at the police station after being retained to represent him.

He later said he had received a satisfactory interview. About 20 witnesses have been summoned to appear, and the hearing will continue today before Magistrate A. I. Thomas.

Yesterday's testimony was slow as the defense counsel objected to much of the Crown evidence and its manner of presentation.

QUESTION OF FILL
Mr. Haldane said his case was based on the contention that Le Brun thought he could find fill in the area where the lumber is alleged to have been logged, for a road being built at the project.

Colonel Townley said he did not think fill could be found in the area, and had not designated it as such an area to the contractors.

He admitted to Mr. Haldane that he had not dug in the area to ascertain if it was suitable for fill.

The lawyer said that in his view it was a matter of opinion between the colonel and Le Brun, the foreman, if there was fill in the area.

"I would not allow cutting of camouflage timber around the site anyway," said the engineer. Mr. Haldane asked about Colonel Townley's experience on road construction projects.

The engineer said he recently finished a defense project in the north where 20 to 30 miles of mountain roads were built.

He was assistant engineer on the Lions Gate Bridge construction, and had much to do with the roads in Stanley Park.

Mr. Haldane said it was a practice of many foremen on construction jobs to find fill as near as possible and at the lowest cost.

He asked that the colonel produce a more detailed map of the area as distances are of importance in the case in regard to the question of "intent."

Stanley M. Onhassey, a project engineer, said he had marked out an area for construction of a road roundabout. He said Le Brun told him he had started cutting trees in an area outside the one marked by Onhassey and asked him what he thought about the question of fill.

Onhassey said he advised him to consult the resident engineer. He said Le Brun asked him how long it would take.

I told him the engineer would have to call Ottawa and it would take weeks," said the witness.

He said Le Brun said he would forget it.

NEW YORK (AP)—Sports writer Grantland Rice left an estate of more than $30,500, most of it willed to his widow and daughter. Terms of his will were made public during the filing of a probate application Wednesday.

Special Meeting of Council Held

Waterworks Projects, Fire Protection Plans Approved for Island Centres

DUNCAN—A rebuilt waterworks system for Chemainus, a completely new water system for Maple Bay, and a fire protection by-law for the south end of North Cowichan municipality moved into their final stages at a special meeting of council. The special closed meeting was ratified at the council meeting Wednesday at Chemainus.

For Chemainus, a copy of the agreement between the municipality and MacMillan & Bloedel will be presented to the department of municipal affairs for approval before being put to the ratepayers for ratification.

The draft by-law to provide "an adequate water supply to the Maple Bay area" was approved and the by-law will be passed by council. This is local improvement by-law.

The same procedure will be followed with the by-law to provide for protection service in the southern end of the municipality. In the north end, at Chemainus, there is an efficient volunteer fire brigade.

Following informal discussions between council and the Moose Lodge regarding a subdivision at the Moose Home on Lakes Road, it was decided by council.

Following notification from the lodge that satisfactory roads have been provided and upon inspection by the chairman of the board of works and the road superintendent, the Moose Lodge subdivision will be approved.

MUST HAVE WATER
The lodge will be notified, however, that no building permits will be granted for homes on road construction projects.

ROAD WIDENING
Widening of Chapman Road in Chemainus will be proceeded by the municipality by the fire department. The members of the volunteer crew said that they were returning the cheque because they believed that reimbursement "for fighting fires in the municipality" should be made to the city and not to the fire department.

Mainland Death Recalls Victoria Family of Colonial Days

BY JAMES K. NESBITT

Death in Vancouver this week of Beverly A. Rhodes, prominent cricketer, recalls one of Victoria's wealthiest and most distinguished families of colonial days.

Beverly Rhodes was a grandson of Henry Rhodes, who came here in the late 50's and built "Maplehurst," a mansion of stone, on Blanshard Street, just north of Memorial Arena today.

Sir Godfrey Rhodes, commander of the Kenya team in the British Empire Games, arrived in Vancouver in time to attend his brother's funeral.

Pack sandwiches and other picnic foods in small packages so the cold can penetrate each package when refrigerated. All picnic foods should be refrigerated immediately after preparation and kept as cool as possible until eaten.

Beverly Rhodes, 64, had been Western Canadian tennis champion twice and won numerous doubles titles. He was a golfer and played grass hockey and badminton. He was in the sporting goods business in Vancouver.

The parents of Beverly and Sir Godfrey Rhodes were married at a society wedding in Victoria in September of 1884, as noted in The Victoria Colonist.

John's Church, was celebrated the wedding of Mr. Harry Rhodes, the popular receiving teller of the Bank of British Columbia, and eldest son of the late Hon. Henry Rhodes, Hawaiian consul, and Miss Marion Bagnall, only daughter of J. Bagnall, merchant of this city.

"The church was filled with a mixed assemblage of friends and others, with the usual majority of the fair sex," Miss Bagnall was dressed in pure white brocade silk, trimmed with lace and orange blossoms, and looked charming. Miss Sylvia Jennis, the bridesmaid, was also dressed in white, and looked very pretty.

"Mr. Rhodes looked well, but a trifle nervous, and was supported by Mr. Herbert Kent as best man. (Mr. Kent still lives in Victoria and turned 92 earlier this month.)

"The impressive marriage ritual of the English Church was read by the Rev. Percival Jennis. Mr. Bagnall giving away the bride. The service ended, the organ pealed forth Mendelssohn's 'Wedding March' and the bride party retired to the vestry to sign the registrar, and afterwards walked down the aisle to the carriage in waiting at the door. Proceeding to the residence of the bride's father, a bounteous repast was partaken of by a few of the most intimate friends. Numerous costly and elegant presents were received by the contracting parties. They leave by this morning's boat for a three weeks' tour over the Sound and Northern Pacific."

Mrs. Harry Rhodes, the mother of Beverly and Sir Godfrey Rhodes, still resides in Vancouver. Her husband died in 1930 when he was treasurer of Vancouver School Board.

MAN OF PARTS

Henry Rhodes, the grandfather of Sir Godfrey, was a man of many parts in pioneer Victoria. He was here a year, when his family arrived from Honolulu, as recorded in The Victoria Gazette of June 27, 1859: "From the Sandwich Islands—the ship Eliza and Ella arrived last evening from Honolulu in 21 days with a cargo of lency. Governor Douglas, has cattle and sheep and some appointed Henry Rhodes—a member of the legislative council of R. C. C. of Vancouver Island. The governor has displayed wisdom in selecting a gentleman possessing the intelligence and commercial and colonial capacity of Mr. Rhodes to fill so important a trust."

There are many references to Henry Rhodes in early-day newspapers. The Colonist, in 1862, said: "New wharf—we learn that Henry Rhodes of the firm of Janion and Green will shortly cause a line wharf to be constructed a short distance above the site of the old bridge, at which the larger vessels may safely lie and discharge their cargoes."

COUNCIL MEMBER

Rhodes, too, played a role in government affairs: "His Excel-

City Favors Gorge Plan

Approval of city council was given yesterday to a proposal of Ald. Geoffrey Edgewood which may eventually put B.C. Electric property fringing the Gorge under ownership of the city and Esquimalt for joint development as a park.

Alderman Edgewood said the plan would fit in with proposals of the Gorge Waterway Improvement Association to restore the entire Gorge Waterway as a large-scale aquatic playground.

When speaking to the ratepayers' association of Esquimalt some time ago the meeting gave unanimous approval to the development of the Gorge waterway and park area," said Alderman Edgewood.

It is the feeling of many residents of Esquimalt that the bringing back of the Gorge to the playground that many of us remember in the past would be a great asset not only to the adjacent property owners, but to all residents of southern Vancouver Island.

The city will ask Esquimalt council to accept the land in question as a gift from the B.C. Electric.

City council yesterday approved a deal which will provide three Sunday afternoon band concerts in Beacon Hill Park next month.

The city will pay the Musicians' Mutual Protective Union, Local 247, $212 for one concert.

The union will provide two additional concerts free of charge.

A small fire was overturned yesterday afternoon as the result of a collision at Bay and Shelbourne.

In the car were Herbert T. Gibson, 40, and his wife, Mary, who were taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital with minor injuries.

Saunders firemen were called to quell two grass fires yesterday.

The fire on Persimmon Drive and at the intersection of Adelaide Avenue and Clough Street caused no damage.

Chief weatherman in Victoria, William Mackie, will speak on weather forecasts at Victoria Rotary Club meeting July 29.

Weathership To Be Ready

The weathership St. Catharines will "almost certainly" be ready to leave for its station, 500 miles out in the Pacific, on schedule Tuesday.

Tom Morrison, superintendent of construction for the department of transport here, said yesterday the St. Catharines will go "into the water" at the Victoria Machinery Depot, a Bay Street slip tonight.

Fifty-one of her planes have been replaced because of minor damage from incessant pounding of the Pacific.

Mr. Morrison said replating and outside painting has been finished and crews will work until Monday night to complete inside work.

The Stinetown is due to return early next month for replacing of 26 planes, seven of which were replaced during her last stay in port.

A member of an English family connected with the wine trade for more than 200 years, identified Derek R. W. Ryan yesterday told Victoria Rotary Club about the manufacture and the treatment of wines.

He told of the important part played by California when the European industry was struck by plague in the latter part of last century.

Vines from America were taken to Europe and grafted to surviving plants.

The speaker said Scotch whisky owes its color to the wine trade, as distillers use old sherry casks in age their spirits.

Colonel Ryan said he thought a knowledge of wines is a useful thing in view of the new provincial liquor laws.

The speaker, who was badly injured during the last war, now lives in Victoria.

A civil defense orientation course for municipal representatives will be held in Victoria October 18 and 19, immediately before the opening of the convention of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities, city council was told yesterday.

An elderly man will appear in court this morning charged with theft of a suit from a downtown store.

Police said he was apprehended at about 1 p.m. in a lane at the rear of the store with the suit. A customer alleged he saw the man take the suit from a hanger.

I. W. Price, operator of a parking lot at the corner of Courtenay and Blanshard Streets, asked city council to limit parking on streets in the area as a means of preventing all-day parking.

Firemen, Police Playground Success

Demonstrations by Saanich police and firemen at Saanich supervised playgrounds has been called the "highlight" of the summer program by officials at the parks.

It was the turn of more than 200 children at Ruel Park Wednesday night to see a Saanich fire department service truck in action.

Lieut. John Mortimer and firemen Joe Robbins and Tom Brown, local sports stars, spoke to the youngsters about the truck and fireman's job.

Fire equipment was demonstrated Wednesday at Hampton Meadow and Qu'Appelle Parks with Fire Chief Joseph Law speaking from his office over a two-way fire truck radio to the youngsters at Hampton Park.

The police patrol wagon visited Broadmead and Maple Parks with Const. Leslie Leighton, motorcycle.

Police and fire demonstrations will be given at least once during the summer.

City council put its stamp of approval yesterday on terms of reference for the guidance of Col. D'Arcy Baldwin, government-appointed arbitrator in the wage dispute between the city and its outside staff.

The terms of reference, which make findings of the arbitrator binding on both sides, were previously approved by union officers.

It is expected that joint approval will make it possible for Colonel Baldwin to call the disputants together soon to state their cases.

Aldermen should study the proposed new city zoning by-law for the remainder of council's summer recess and then deal with it in September, Ald. William Pinfold said yesterday.

Council was presented with the draft by-law last April by the town planning commission.

Victoria Labor Council (VLC) has delegated its president S. A. Muir to attend a July 26 conference at Vancouver on the proposed B.C. Electric bus fare increases.

The conference is sponsored by the B.C. Federation of Labor (CFL).

Johnson Street Folk Demanding New Name

BY LAWRIE JOSLIN

Now they want Johnson Street candy-coated. Some 80 merchants and residents of Johnson Street appealed to city council yesterday to change the name of their street "as soon as possible" because they believe a bad taste is caused by the present name with its doubtful past associations.

"Johnson Street causes a very unfavorable reaction among a great number of residents of Greater Victoria and such residents hesitate to patronize the businesses now situated on Johnson Street and it is to be expected such unfavorable reaction that the undersigned petitioners request the name be changed as soon as possible the petition said.

Aldermen blinked in obvious surprise when they saw the petition.

NOT FOR 30 YEARS

Ald. Frank Mulliner, taken aback, said Johnson Street hasn't had a favorable reputation for 30 years or more. Council quickly referred the petition to aldermen and the public works committee.

But the petition had set tongues wagging with all sorts of suggestions.

One citizen suggested that Johnson Street be renamed Harrison Street in honor of the mayor.

But he was told Victoria already had a Harrison Street.

"Look," he retorted, "you want to get rid of the bad taste, don't you. Call it Claude Street."

But Victoria already has a Claude Road.

It has a Lavender Avenue, a Rose Street, a Paradise Street and a Cherry Road, too, so the search for a new name will be a tough one behind the closed doors of the works committee room.

NORODY KNOWS

Authorities like J. K. Nesbitt, local water, who has made a special study of the origin of Victoria's street names, were at a loss last night to say how Johnson Street got its name.

Mr. Nesbitt said there are several confusing theories, none apparently conclusive.

As far as can be learned, he said the name was in use at least as far back as the 1860s.

The name has no connection with former B.C. premier Byron Johnson.

William McDougall, manager of the St. James Hotel on Johnson Street, had some pertinent remarks about the proposed change of name.

He referred to yesterday's announcement by Harry Bergman of Portland, Ore., owner of the hotel that immediate renovation costing $7,000 to $10,000 and future large-scale expansion are proposed for the St. James.

Mr. McDougall disclosed that he organized the "change the name" petition along Johnson Street.

"Later I intend to approach the police commission and the council to bear down on the panhandlers and drunks on the street," he added. "Penalties could be made more severe. They're all well-known characters."

Mr. Bergman said renovation work on the hotel will begin as soon as plans are definite and will take about eight weeks to complete.

Future expansion of the present hotel, which has 102 rooms and 28 apartments, is definite but still in the planning stage, he said.

NEAT COINCIDENCE

The hotel's name will be changed to Hotel Olympic as part of the renovation scheme. Mr. McDougall suggested the street be named "Olympic" too.

The present hotel cafe will be replaced with a beer parlor with a seating capacity of 200.

The renovation plan involves sweeping improvements throughout the building and calls for installation of elevator service and new plumbing.

Long-term Public Utilities Commission investigation of the B.C. Electric Company, including its subsidiaries, has been suggested by Saanich Councillor L. H. Passmore.

There was some indication from the Saanich municipal transportation committee meeting last night that this is being considered by Greater Victoria Transportation Committee.

The councillor said in a committee debate on proposed B.C.E. bus fare increases, that "sooner or later the time will come when the city will take over the light and transit system."

SUBSIDIZATION

The company is making 47 per cent return on overall operations. No doubt there must be subsidization from one service to another, he said.

It seems he said that the P.U.C. never went far enough into the B.C.E. assets in a thorough investigation, which would include subsidiaries and everything else profit-making should be reexamined.

Mr. Bergman said renovation work on the hotel will begin as soon as plans are definite and will take about eight weeks to complete.

Future expansion of the present hotel, which has 102 rooms and 28 apartments, is definite but still in the planning stage, he said.

NEAT COINCIDENCE

The hotel's name will be changed to Hotel Olympic as part of the renovation scheme. Mr. McDougall suggested the street be named "Olympic" too.

The present hotel cafe will be replaced with a beer parlor with a seating capacity of 200.

The renovation plan involves sweeping improvements throughout the building and calls for installation of elevator service and new plumbing.

Long-term Public Utilities Commission investigation of the B.C. Electric Company, including its subsidiaries, has been suggested by Saanich Councillor L. H. Passmore.

There was some indication from the Saanich municipal transportation committee meeting last night that this is being considered by Greater Victoria Transportation Committee.

The councillor said in a committee debate on proposed B.C.E. bus fare increases, that "sooner or later the time will come when the city will take over the light and transit system."

SUBSIDIZATION

The company is making 47 per cent return on overall operations. No doubt there must be subsidization from one service to another, he said.

It seems he said that the P.U.C. never went far enough into the B.C.E. assets in a thorough investigation, which would include subsidiaries and everything else profit-making should be reexamined.

Councillors Passmore and E. W. Bink moved and seconded a resolution opposing a fare increase and added that a delegate be instructed to work with any Greater Victoria municipal group to prepare a brief to the P.U.C.

The committee was unanimous in the belief that little good would come to the B.C.E. from a fare increase.

In earlier discussions with B.C.E. officials the members agreed that a combined fare increase and route mileage reduction is better than just a larger fare increase.

PUBLIC HEARING

Victoria city council yesterday referred to city solicitor A. J. Patton a letter from the P.U.C. that a public hearing will be held here August 5 on the utility company's fare-increase application.

The mayor confirmed that Mr. Patton is preparing a brief for presentation to the P.U.C.

Council two weeks ago voted to oppose the application.

Aldermen also referred to the solicitor the request of the superannuated Federal Civil Servants, Victoria branch that council refuse bus fare increases.

STARTING POINT

The Saanich committee debate revealed recapitulation of the B.C.E. about 1927 and indicated that any investigation might have to begin from that time.

Old R. H. Wootton said concerning a municipally owned system that former Premier

Council Thinks Again

City council decided yesterday to make a bid after all to be host city next year for the annual convention of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities.

Aldermen gave a cool reception to similar suggestions two weeks ago.

Council was notified by the Empress Hotel yesterday that sufficient accommodation would be available for convention delegates early in September next year.

Council will apply to the federation for host city application papers before the July 29 meeting.

This year's convention is to be held next month in Windsor, Ont.

Engineer To Check On Leaks

Col. W. G. Swan, Vancouver consulting engineer, is to inspect leaks in the roof of Memorial Arena before the city proceeds with attempts to force Insul Mastic Building Products Ltd. to repair the roof.

City solicitor A. J. Patton said Colonel Swan is expected about August 5.

The city is preparing to ask Insul Mastic to stand by its guarantee that the roof would be waterproof for 10 years from the time it carried out repairs some three years ago.

Man Facing Fraud Count

A 26-year-old man will face at least one fraud charge in city police court today, police said last night.

Perry Byatt, no fixed address, was returned to Victoria last night after he was picked up in Nanaimo by RCMP.

Several charges may be laid in the case but details were not available early today.

Handicapped Meet Tonight

Two National Film Board movies will be shown at a meeting of the Canadian League for the Handicapped at 7:30 p.m. in the Health and Welfare Centre, Cook Street.

President Fred Blakeney last night urged all members and prospective members to attend to hear further details of the club's progress.

Dies at Door Of Hospital

An 88-year-old Victoria man collapsed and died at the Humble Street entrance to St. Joseph's Hospital yesterday.

Police said death of John Slater, 841 Southgate Street, was due to natural causes.

Blind Oldsters Celebrate at Sunshine Camp

BY ALEX MERRIMAN

Having fun at Sunshine Camp at Sooke this week are 45 blind vacationers attending the 15th annual CNIB camp.

They are some of 375 persons who will enjoy an otherwise financially impossible vacation part in the grand parade led by the camp owned by a hand equipped with kitchen pots and pans, and one woman

B.C. Faces Grave Loss Of Peace River Gas

Fear that vast gas reserves in the Peace River area will lay dormant for a long time thereby losing B.C. $15,000,000 a year in royalties, was expressed last night by Byron Johnson, former premier of British Columbia.

Mr. Johnson last night broke a two-year silence when he spoke at the Oak Bay Kiwanis Club. The former premier has made statements to the press, but this was his first public speech since his Liberal government was defeated by Social Credit two years ago.

He made no mention of the Socreds or the Liberals, but rather confirmed his talk to his experience in dealing with natural-gas problems in the province.

He deplored the fact that an American company has been given permission to distribute gas in the Pacific Northwest states over the application of West Coast Transmission, but added he was always doubtful of the decision being favorable to the Canadian company.

Washington's action in giving the permit to the American company has made it financially impossible on an economic basis to bring natural gas from the Peace River area to B.C. markets, he said.

He said an official of the American company told him in 1950 that it was not proposed to use any of the natural gas from the Peace River area.

It was proposed to pipe gas from Alberta for distribution in Eastern and Western Canada and across the water from Anacortes to Vancouver Island.

PROBLEM SOLVED
The problem of serving Eastern and Western Canada with Canadian natural gas has been solved by the proposed construction of an all-Canadian gas pipeline from Alberta to Ontario and Quebec, "which is as it should be, and, for one, commend the Alberta and federal governments for bringing this about," Mr. Johnson said.

The Canadian company has launched an appeal against granting the franchise to the American company, but if the decision is confirmed and no effort made to bring Peace River gas to the mainland—B.C. and Vancouver Island, it seems evident this great natural resource will lie idle for an indefinite period of time, he said.

If an export permit is available, the American company plans to serve the southern part of the province from a source in Alberta or from the Gulf of Mexico area, which would mean our vast gas reserve in the Peace River area would lay dormant for a long time, he warned.

The provincial government stands to lose $15,000,000 a year in royalties if the Peace River resources are not developed and sold in B.C. and U.S. markets, Mr. Johnson said.

One major development which should take precedence over all others," he said, "is the construction of a natural gas pipeline from the Peace River to the Lower Mainland and the B.C. boundary."

He suggested the West Coast Transmission as the logical company to do the job and urged provincial participation in the original financing.

Acquitted of Murder Charge

Friendly hands reach out to congratulate Dr. Kenneth Small after his acquittal by an Alameda, Mich., court on charges of murder. He admitted to the slaying of Jules Lack, whom he named as the person who had stolen the love of his wife, but pleaded temporary insanity. In accordance with Michigan law, Dr. Small will go into a state institution until it is decided whether he is now sane.—(Central Press Canadian.)

Tottenham Ditches Civil Defense

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP)—Judge J. R. H. Kirkpatrick of juvenile court Thursday sentenced a mother to three months in jail for letting her 15-year-old daughter become a juvenile delinquent. The court was told that the girl had been found sleeping with another 16-year-old girl in a ditch.

Tears on Honeymoon

ROME (AP)—Film actress Linda Darnell, who came here only last week on her honeymoon, left by air Thursday night for New York in tears. She said only that she had received "sad news." She was crying when she boarded a plane. Her new husband, Philip Liebmann, was with her but she said he was going only as far as Paris. From there she will take another plane to New York, alone.

For Southeast Asia

Britain, U.S. Plan Anti-Red Alliance

WASHINGTON (AP)—Britain and the United States have agreed to join in calling an international conference of about 10 nations by September 1 to create an anti-Communist Southeast Asian alliance. Consultations with friendly nations which may participate are already being held.

The aim of the conference will be to conclude a defensive treaty that would post "no trespassing" warnings for the Communists along the borders of South Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia in Indo-China, and of Thailand and Burma.

The British agreement to hold a meeting by September apparently represents a concession on timing by Foreign Secretary Eden. Earlier information had been that Eden believed many months would be required to work out the proposed pact.

State Secretary Dulles had sought creation of the alliance as a matter of urgency. He believes immediate creation of anti-Communist strength in Southeast Asia is necessary in view of Communist gains through the Indo-China peace settlement reached at Geneva Wednesday.

The exact date and place of the conference remain to be determined in talks with the other governments which may attend. Consultations with the French regime of Premier Mendes-France, hitherto preoccupied with the Indo-China peace negotiations, are expected to begin at once.

Former Red Police Chief Executed

LONDON (Reuters)—Russia announced early today the execution of a former high secret police chief—the first execution of a political leader since Lavrenti P. Beria and six others were shot last December.

The Soviet official news agency Tass, in a dispatch monitored here, said M. D. Riumin, formerly deputy minister of state security in Russia, was executed following a death sentence passed by a military court.

He was the principal scapegoat when the Kremlin reversed its decision in the mysterious "case of the doctors," which evidently occasioned Riumin's downfall, was linked with the last hours of Stalin's life and with the takeover by the new regime headed by Prime Minister Malenkov.

In January last year the Kremlin announced that a group of doctors—most of whom were Jewish—had been arrested and charged with shortening the lives of two top Soviet leaders and planning to "murder medically" leading personalities of the Soviet Army.

Coffin Jury Shaken

Defense Offers New Evidence

PERCE, Que. (CP)—A heavy rain squall darkened the courtroom during a murder trial here Thursday as the Crown exhibited grisly pictures of a triple slaying in the Gaspé wilds a year ago.

Jurors, who sat for a time in eerie shadows caused by a power break, were visibly shaken as they studied photographs of the bear-mauled bodies of three American hikers.

Earlier in this seventh day of the trial, defense counsel Raymond Maher returned to the court after a two-day absence and declared he had found "some very important evidence."

Wilbert Coffin, 40-year-old jack-of-all-trades who is charged specifically with the rifle killing of Richard Lindsey, 17, of Holidaysburg, Pa., showed little emotion during the hearing.

Capt. Raoul Sirois of the Quebec provincial police described the finding of parts of Richard's body in the wilderness, near those of his friend, Albert Clair, 20. The place was known as Camp 23. He said the remains of Richard's father, Eugene, 47, were found near Camp 24, about three miles away.

All three were from Holidaysburg.

Change in September

Bickering, New Objections Result in Action by Council

One-way traffic on Fort, View and Broughton Streets is being abandoned by the city.

City council voted yesterday to scrap the plan which has been a sore point with merchants on Fort Street, between Government and Douglas, since its inception.

Dissatisfaction was expressed by aldermen over reports of bickering between Sgt. Brooke Douglass, head of the police traffic division, and Robert Doble, city traffic engineer.

But Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, protesting that the division of authority on traffic matters was not helping to solve the city's traffic problems, tried unsuccessfully to get support from a majority of council for a motion to place all traffic matters within the jurisdiction of the police department.

DECISION DELAYED

Council voted, instead, to delay an immediate decision on the issue of traffic control authority and to deal with the question at a later date.

Council decision washing out one-way traffic on the three downtown streets cannot take effect immediately.

City Engineer Cyril Jones said it will be necessary to change bus routes and stops and to have a special meeting of council approve the return to two-way traffic by passing an amendment to the streets traffic by-law.

It may be some time in September before normal traffic returns to the street, he estimated.

Ald. Arthur Dowell, chairman of the public works committee, told council Alderman Edgelow's suggestion placing all traffic matters under police control would eventually result in all downtown city streets being one-way streets.

He was referring to Sgt. Douglass' plan, now under study by the town planning commission, to make all streets one-way in the area bounded by Wharf, Belleville, Hillside and Quadra Streets.

APPROVAL NEEDED

The mayor reminded him that changes would have to be approved by council, regardless of who had authority to suggest changes.

City Engineer Jones angrily denied suggestions that his department had misled council and the works committee into believing that the one-way plan could be tried out on an experimental basis at little or no cost.

Aldermen were concerned over suggestions that it might cost $2,000 to return to two-way traffic on Fort, View and Broughton after the city had spent some $4,500 instituting the scheme.

Mr. Jones objected hotly to suggestions that work being done by Mr. Doble was not necessary since the city has a police traffic division headed by a sergeant who had taken a special course in traffic control.

City Manager Cecil Wyatt, asked for an opinion, said he had no hesitation in stating that Mr. Doble had been an invaluable employee.

The city engineer said Mr. Doble's traffic-control work had saved the city "a great deal of money." The traffic engineer was appointed by city council some three years ago.

MOTION REJECTED

Council rejected a motion of Ald. Millard Mooney asking that the whole traffic problem be submitted to a special committee for investigation.

Alderman Mooney changed the motion before he put it to council. His original suggestion was that the committee should investigate the possibility of eliminating traffic control from the public works department.

The mayor finally ruled discussion involving Sgt. Douglass and Mr. Doble out of order, after Ald. William Pinfold said it was known that the two men were continually at loggerheads and council should step in and settle it.

Question of one-way streets was introduced by the works committee in a recommendation that one-way traffic run in the same direction on View Street between Government and Douglas and that one-way traffic be reversed on Fort to run in an easterly direction.

Alderman Dowell said he would just as soon see traffic going both ways on the streets if parking was prohibited on one or both sides.

OBJECTIONS READ

Council heard letters from Gordon Ellis Ltd. and Williamson's, Fort Street merchants objecting to suggestions that traffic be reversed to proceed in an easterly direction. Other Fort Street merchants have objected strenuously that the present westerly flow of traffic had resulted in a sharp reduction in tourist trade.

Atom Power Draws Near In Canada

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Wide-spread use of atomic power in Canadian industry is much closer than the public realizes, A. E. Grauer, president of the B.C. Electric Co., said yesterday.

"In about a decade Canadians may be using 1,000,000 electrical horsepower generated from atomic energy," Grauer predicted after a visit to the national nuclear project at Chalk River, Ont.

All-Night Dive Tried at Last

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Ed Fisher, a Miami diver, dropped into the sea off Key Largo Thursday and went down 30 feet to the floor of a coral canyon in an effort to become the first man to go on an over-night camping trip under water.

Fisher expects to stay down 24 hours, coming up at 4 p.m. EDT today.

His purpose is to test a new diving unit. A team of assistants will take fresh tanks of air to him every hour. The unit has no hose leading to the surface.

German 'Master Spy' Behind Iron Curtain

BERLIN (Reuters)—West Germany's intelligence chief, Otto John, disappeared behind the Iron Curtain Tuesday, the government announced Thursday.

A security official in Bonn said the six-foot Communist hunter had been drugged and abducted into Communist East Berlin. But West German police insisted he booted of his own free will in a state of "depression."

A government spokesman in Bonn said Thursday night it still was not yet clear whether John was kidnapped or had voluntarily crossed into the Communist sector of Berlin.

He was last seen at 5 p.m. Tuesday in the company of "an old friend," Dr. Wolfgang Wohlgemut—a surgeon described as an ardent Communist—the statement said.

John's secretary said that Tuesday night John got a phone call from a doctor he knew well, who called on him to meet a "desperate" need for help. Intelligence sources in Bonn said, "DRAFTED REPORT"

John helped draft a government statement on Communist kidnapping plots in the Western sector shortly before he disappeared. West German government officials at Bonn said Thursday night.

His Spanish-born wife insists he went to East Berlin because of a "mental depression," West German police said. This was flatly contradicted by the West German interior ministry in a statement which said "all the signs so far indicate he has been the victim of abduction into the Soviet zone of Germany."

Under River in Homemade Suit

Czech Dives to Freedom

VIENNA (AP)—A Czech grocery clerk has escaped from Communist Czechoslovakia by swimming three miles underwater in a submarine suit copied from a picture of a U.S. navy frogman, American officials said Thursday.

Oltich Lopada, 41, made his getaway June 28 across the rain-swollen waters of the Dyje River at the Czech frontier town of Znojmo, 50 miles northwest of Vienna.

Now at a U.S. refugee camp at Weil, Lopada said his makeshift frogman suit was made of sheet rubber glued together with rubber cement, and a diver's helmet built from an old German gas mask. The mask had two rubber hoses attached to corks that floated on the water.

Lopada told U.S. officials he hid near the river bank on the Czech side until night fell and border patrols could not see him slip into the water. He carried wire cutters to get through the barbed-wire frontier in midstream.

Lopada got the idea for the suit from a picture in a magazine of U.S. frogmen in the Normandy invasion. He told U.S. officials the Communist-Czech regime had forced him out of his grocery business.
